GENERAL SESSION - David Kessler

Life Lessons and the Needs of the Dying

With insight, compassion and humor, David shares his experiences in researching his books Life Lessons which he co-authored with Elisabeth Kübler-Ross, and The Needs of the Dying, now published in over 11 countries worldwide. His first book, The Needs of the Dying, received praise from Mother Teresa. David brings his mix of experiences from health care, police and aviation disaster work together as well as grief in the workplace to illuminate the life lessons that can energize us in our work and in our lives.

Speaker: David is Director of Palliative Care for Citrus Valley Health Partners, which has three hospitals and an award-winning hospice in the Los Angeles area.
